Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Will the new explosive which is expected to kill a half hundred goats over a section of land, perhaps be the deciding factor in the war against Germany? No one can say of course, but with the sympathies of this country almost universally with the Allies, there may be a disposition on the part of American military authorities to export this new super explosive for Allied use. Whether this could be done without revealing the secret of the terrible mixture only the inventor knows.

While we have an abstract sympathy for the members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals who are protesting this experimental use of goats in testing a high explosive, we are not sure their judgment is sound. It is just possible that the explosive will spare the goats and destroy their odor, which would be a great boon to humanity. One thing is certain, if the bombs kill the goats, they will surely mean death to humans.

Word comes from Washington that the Administration has decided to blow off the spending lid. It is proposed to subsidize, in the name of relief, about three and a half million families, or twelve million persons. This, it is believed will be enough to swing the election in event it is at all close. The national statutory debt limit of 45 billions of dollars is to be evaded under one pretext or another, but congressmen are resolved to return home with plenty of bacon to grease the skids back into office again.

In 1936 and 1938, it is noteworthy that the same tactics were used, but in 1938 they were not so efficacious. Republicans made startling gains in the House of Representatives, and it is just possible that this spending splurge with the obvious purpose of buying enough votes to swing the election will become a major campaign issue and a deciding factor in beating the spendthrifts.

Full advantage is being taken of the war in Europe to scare the electorate into backing a two navy and big army program. While much is made of the need for spending for armaments, the fact is of course that farm subsidy and voters subsidy in the way of relief, comprise roughly three fourths of the 5-billion dollars which are to be tossed out during the last half of 1940 in an effort to provide a specious prosperity.

Actually we don't believe there is much difference between raising a boy to be cannon fodder and in raising him to have his back broken under a huge permanent tax burden. In the one case he suffers death and dies a hero, in the other he drags out a crippled and handicapped existence. There are times, when we think of the monstrous burden which the New Deal has piled on the backs of the school boys and girls of today, that we look upon repudiation of the national debt as not only justifiable, but as the only salvation for our children. And, sometimes we have wondered if the New Deal left wingers have not "planned it that way." Actual repudiation of course, does not mean an act of Congress is necessary. Inflation eventually, as well proved in Germany, accomplishes the same thing. Those who lent the government dear money are paid off in cheap money. The lenders are ruined but the debtors are freed.

Just now the Government collects from the people 109 millions a week and spends 175 millions weekly. And still with all this deficit spending (the difference between 109 millions and 175 millions is 66 millions weekly) men still pace the sidewalks of factory towns, still cruise about in model-T's with no jobs and only relief between them and starvation.

Dean Caruthers, economist of Lehigh University, says: "This country is ready for recovery. It has been ready for a long time. Many unfavorable factors supply the reason for the long delay. Among them is the appalling series of Government mistakes. The one thing needed is a guarantee that economic vivisection is over, so that American enterprise can get up from the floor, dust itself off, and go to work without the ever-present fear of being blackjacked.

Sniping Trespasser Identified As Jail Breaking Criminal

William Johnson, ex-convict, jail breaker and suspected extortionist, is being held in the county jail today after James Coughlin of North Columbia swore out a warrant charging him with trespass last Monday.

A large coffee can full of crudely fashioned pass keys, jimmies, saws and other paraphernalia found in his possession led officers to believe that he was planning to extend his long career of crime in this vicinity.

Coughlin accused Johnson and his partner, George Gale, of sniping on the Coughlin claims. The two men pleaded not guilty at their hearing Wednesday.

The men were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford, who said that Johnson attempted to break to freedom in the brush but was apprehended when he fired a warning shot. Gale was also found after an unsuccessful attempt to hide.

Johnson, identified by finger prints, has a long criminal record. He first ran afoul of the law in Sheridan, Wyoming, and was sentenced to 1 1-2 to 3 years in the state penitentiary Sept. 27, 1921. A little less than four months later he made a successful jail break and was at liberty for almost two years before he was recaptured. He served the remainder of the original term and then was sentenced to an additional term for escape.

He was again arrested in Pomona, Calif., on a vagrancy charge.

Last year Johnson and two other men—Andy Zales and Harlan Hineske—were arrested in Nevada county on charges of extortion filed by George Vankoff, of the Washington district. Vankoff charged that the three men threatened to kill him unless he produced $600. The threat was made at his home when they appeared and demanded money, gold or other valuables amounting to $600.

As soon as they left Vankoff phoned the sheriff's office and Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen intercepted the trio at the CCC camp at White Cloud. One was carrying a 32 caliber rifle when apprehended.

The case is still pending.

The Coughlins have been plagued frequently by snipers on their property. Recently two men, believed to have perished in an abandoned mine shaft near Colfax were discovered in the Nevada county jail after they were discovered by the sheriff's office on the Coughlin ground.

FULL PROGRAM AWAITS THRONGS AT FINAL DANCE

Announcement was made this week that a full program for the Chamber of Commerce Farewell to Armory Hall Dance has been arranged full of entertaining features including a resume of the history of the famous old hall, which is to be destroyed soon to make room for a modern building. Fred Garrison, Jr., chairman of the entertainment committee has a large group aiding him in obtaining the finest talent procurable.

Music will be supplied by the popular Foote's orchestra, composed of all local. The leader, Bud Foote, and four of the seven piece band are from Grass Valley and three of the musicians are from Nevada City. The chamber decided that since the event has such local significance, it would be fitting to have a local orchestra on the stand.

Chamber officials are predicting a record throng of dancers at the historic building, that has been the scene of virtually every community event for generations.

STATE BOARD HEARING HELD IN CITY HALL

D. L. Tietzen, time keeper of the California highway maintainance station, south of Nevada City, was chief witness Tuesday before Harry L. Lutgens, referee for the State Personnel board, at a hearing in the city hall, in which he protested his pending transfer to Petaluma.

William Cassetari, appeared as attorney for Tietzen, while the attorney for the State Department of Public Works defended the highway officials, particularly Fred C. Garrison, formerly in charge of the maintainance station here, against Tietzen charges to the effect that he had been ordered to pad the payroll.

Tietzen declared on the stand that Garrison insisted that men employed in preparing for the big Peach Bowl picnic of state highway employees held at North San Juan two years ago, should be recorded as having worked on the highways, instead of doing various jobs in preparation for the picnic. His refusal to thus credit the men with work on the highway led Garrison to threaten him (Tietzen) with a chair, Tietzen said. Another highway employe partly corroborated this story, testifying that, outside the office, he heard Tietzen order Garrison to put the chair on the floor.

George Prouse, of the Prouse-Drive-In Market, testified that sometime last January, Garrison had entered his store opposite the highway headquarters, and asked how much Tietzen owed him, and advised him to collect whatever the amount was due since Tietzen, he said, was about to be fired.

Garrison testfying in his own behalf, denied ever having talked with Prouse in regard to the matter, and also denied threatening Tietzen with a chair. He denied all allegations that implied dishonesty in the conduct of his job as superintendent here of the highway maintenance station. Garrison is now in charge of a highway station at Woodland.

At the conclusion of the hearing Harry Lutgens announced that the State Personnel Board would take the testimony under advisement. Two weeks ago the Board of Public Works held a hearing in the highway maintenance station here, regarding charges of dishonesty and misconduct made by Tientzen against Garrison, but thus far they have made no public report of their findings.

OLSON RECALL PETITION TO BE FILED MAY 4

Senator Jerrold Seawell, who represents this district in the state legislature, a visitor in Nevada City yesterday, stated that he has learned that the petition to recall Governor Olson will be filed with the Secretary of State May 4.

Business and labor organizations throughout California, have recently learned that if the voters should go to the polls and vindicate, that is vote to retain the governor in power for the rest of his term, many members of the legislature will regard it as a demand that the Olson program be enacted and govern themselves accordingly when the regular session convenes in January 1941. Therefore many organizations which, if not actively, at least passively opposed the recall of Olson, are now said to be getting into the fray with the demand that the vote on the recall be a decisive repudiation of Olson and his program.

LADIES AID

The Ladies Aid Society convention will be held in Lodi next Tuesday, April 30 and a large delegation of the local members plan to attend. Rev. David Ralston, pastor of the local Methodist church announces that the bus will leave the church on Broad street at 7:00 o'clock on that morning. All who plan to go are asked to give their names to Rev. Ralston.

City Council Passes New Zone Ordinance

An adjourned meeting of the Nevada City Council was held in the City Hall last evening and a new zoning ordinance passed Present for the meeting were Mayor Ben Hall, Councilman Frank Davies, J. R. Ivey and Irving Seaman. Councilman Robert Nye was out of town, he and his wife having gone to Boulder Dam on a week's vacation. The legal notice appears elsewhere in this paper.

FULLER CHARGED WITH TWO MORE LAW VIOLATIONS

The preliminary hearing scheduled for yesterday of Walter Barnes and Delbert Fuller, arraigned Tuesday on charges of assault by means of force likely to produce great bodily harm, a felony, and resisting a public officer in the discharge of his duty, a misdemeanor, was postponed until Wednesday, May 8, after a motion by Delbert Fuller. The postponement was asked because neither defendant had sufficient time to arrange for counsel.

Additional charges were made against Fuller yesterday in a complaint signed by Captain Joseph Blake of the California Highway Patrol. The complaint charges Fuller with drunken driving causing great bodily injury, a felony, and driving on the wrong side of the road causing great bodily injury, a misdemeanor. The hearing on both counts is also scheduled for May 8.

The complaints are the aftermath of an accident occurring on the Nevada City-Grass Valley highway last Saturday afternoon when, it is asserted by eyewitnesses, they went out of their way to smash and cripple two 12 year old bicycle riding boys and then choked and beat a special deputy sheriff who had been detailed to watch over them.

Struck Headon

Fuller drove between the boys, who were riding parallel to sideswipe Darrel Malcolm and strike Dean Schroyer almost headon on his bike. The young boy was knocked for a distance of 61 feet. Malcolm was sent sprawling for 15 feet. He received a torn ear, abrasions of the face, contusions and acerations of the body.

Schroyer was more seriously hurt, sustaining a bad knee sprain, numerous cuts about the body, bruises and shock.

The accident was witnessed by Captain J E. Blake of the California Highway Patrol and son Gene Blake. The patrol captain took up the chase of Fuller's car, which failed to stop. He ran the vehicle down within a quarter mile and left his son Gene Blake, a special officer, to watch the men, while he entered the Glenbrook Market to call ambulances and patrol cars.

Kicked in Face, Stomach

While the junior Blake's back was turned as he sought to remove the keys from the Fuller car, the car operator allegedly grabbed him by the throat and hurled him to the ground, holding him while Barnes beat and kicked him about the face, stomach and groin. Captain Blake ran to the struggling group to intercede at the moment that Game Warden Earl Hiscox, Deputy Sheriff Gene Johnson arrived and pulled off Fuller and Barnes. District Attorney Vernon Stoll drove up at the same time.

Fuller and Barnes were only released from the Nevada county jail on completing misdemeanor terms, after breaking parole on one or two occasions. Fuller a few months ago was acquitted of an arson charge in Nevada City. He was later convicted of an intoxication charge in Grass Valley and sentenced to jail on an original sentence and a suspended sentence. Barnes, who once beat a morals charge, completed a term for assault with a knife.

Both men have been among the most flagrant and chronic peace violators within the county recently.

BOUND OVER

Lee H. Williams, 36. employed in a local mine, was bound over to the authorities of Elko, Nevada, this week after being served with a warrant charging embezzlement.

He was arrested by Sheriff Carl Tobiassen on information received from Elko.

Sen. Seawell Tells Rotary Club Why SRA Costs Are High

Senator Jerrold Seawell gave an interesting talk at Rotary luncheon yesterday on the dilemma which faces the tax payers o the state in paying for relief. He stated he believed that relief had come to stay. Calling attention to the fact that counties now handle old age pensions, blind aid, and assistance for dependent children, Senator Seawell pointed out that the average cost of handling all these forms of relief in the counties of Northern California averages about 3 per cent of the amount spent. For SRA relief, however, which is distributed through state SRA agencies, the cost varies from 22 to 80 per cent.

In one instance, that of Tehama, in June, 1939, there were five cases of SRA relief, one person was employed to take charge. The amount of money distributed to the five SRA reliefs was $73.04. It cost $288.06 to make this distribution.

In Calaveras county, during June, 1939, there were 37 SRA relief cases who received $840.62, and the three SRA administrators spent $500.95 in distributing this relief. This was during a month when the SRA relief load was at its lowest. But in February, the time of the heaviest load, the Calaveras county welfare department with two employes spent $10,000 on 338 cases at a cost to the county of $250.

In Sutter county, in June, 1939, there were 180 cases of SRA relief, who received $4,931.82. The 18 SRA employes who administered this relief cost the state $1521.82. In February, 1940, the county welfare department had 735 cases of relief, and the five employes dispensed $36,000 at a cost of $699 to the county.

Senator Seawell stated that when the governor submits his budget, as he is required by law to do, the legislature appoints a committee to ascertain whether all the amounts and the items are actually necessary. Unfortunately, he said, the state departments are able to offer very little corroboration of the items found in the governor's budget. Whether relief is being economically administered, whether the recipients are, in fact, in need, and whether chiselers are getting away with little or much of the money, these things the legislature is left to find out for itself. And a committee was appointed, and has, with several subcommittees, been busy during the legislative recess, delving into California's relief needs. When the legislature reconvenes May 7, its report will be ready for action, and some intelligent answer can be made to the vexed question of relief.

Regarding Olson's production for use program, Senator Seawell stated that in Alameda county, $3,850 was spent in a vegetable growing project, and $76.50 worth of vegetables was produced. An inventory of a Los Angeles production for use cooperative, revealed that on the shelves of this institution there was $95,000 worth of jams. Unfortunately this jam found no buyers. Recipients of SRA checks much preferred to pay for higher priced S & W, or Del Monte jam brands, than take home the low priced jam produced in the Olson Utopian factories. So this jam bids fair to become a permanent asset of the state.

The legislature, having ascertained that the cost of administering relief through the county welfare departments is so much lower than that of SRA, passed a bill before it recessed, returning SRA relief to the counties. Governor Olson vetoed the bill. The senator stated that he did not believe the two thirds majority, necessary to override the veto, could be mustered in the assemby, though he was fairly certain the senate would re-pass the bill over the veto.

JUDGE MODIFIES GOLDEN CENTER INJUNCTION SUIT

Judge Warren Steel of Yuba county, who presided in the injunction suit brought by the Empire Star Mines Ltd. against Cooley Butler and others to restrain the defendants from flooding the underground workings of the Empire with water from the Golden Center mine continued his restraining order with modifications in the following decision:

"The injunction pendente lite will issue. It will provide that the existing restraining order may be modified so that the defendant in this case may proceed with their winze for an additional depth, not to exceed seventy five feet, upon giving to the plaintiffs in the action proper and adequate notice that they intend to blast and of such other operations as might cause some confusion in the lower workings. The defendants will be restrained from, either through the present drill holes or other drill holes, dumping any water into the underground workings being operated by the plaintiff."

On behalf of the plaintiff there appeared Robert M. Searls, son of the late Fred Searls Sr. Associated with him were Judge W. E. Colby of San Francisco and Frank G. Finnegan of Nevada City. The defendant, Cooley Butler, was present in court with his counsel, G. A. Bisbee of Los Angeles, Pierce Butler of St. Paul, Minn., nephew of Cooley Butler, and H. Ward Sheldon of Nevada City as associate counsel.

Further hearing will take place Friday, May 24, at 10 a. m.

CIRCUS WILL BE AT CASHIN FIELD FOR THREE DAYS

Have you seen a horse tell time by the clock? No? You must see Dandy, Capt. Clark's famous "pick-out" horse, Dandy will be in Nevada City with Siebrand Bros. Circus. Dandy looks at the watch of any man in the audience and then picks out the numbers from the table, telling you the minutes after the hour as well as the hour. Dandy also multiplies, divides, substracts and adds problems given by the audience.

It took many years of patient work from the trainer, Capt. Clark to teach Dandy this outstanding act. Every day Dandy goes to school, just as the children of Nevada City go to school. Dandy must go to school 365 days a year. He doesn't get the vacation the children get. He gets lumps of sugar instead. Dandy will tell you he works 7 days a week and that he has a lot of fun entertaining you in the big top.

Dandy is of circus stock and would be lost away from the bright lights and spangled glamor of the big top. He eats and sleeps with the other horses. He is a friend to the dogs and monkeys and takes them for a ride every day. Don't miss the circus for if you do, you will miss Dandy, the most intelligent horse ever to be presented to the public.

Siebrand Bros. Piccadilly Circus and Carnival Combined will be in Nevvada City for three days beginning today and will be located at Cashin field.

SAMPLING GRAVEL BEDS IN QUAKER HILL DIST.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McGinnis were in Nevada City Wednesday from the Quaker Hill district. He stated he is in charge of a new outfit that is sampling his gravel claims by cutting into an old channel. McGinnis was employed in the local Safeway store three years ago and then moved to Chico to manage a store and had a transfer back to Grass Valley where he had charge of the store until the store was closed due to a transfer of the property.

To Regulate The Regulators

(From the New York World-Telegram)

Coming soon for Congressional showdown is a measure as fundamental as any in our time. Fundamental, because it deals with the basic proposition of wether ours shall be a government by law or by men.

The problem, though settled in the earlier and simpler days of our democracy, has grown as the complexities of modern life have grown. It is the problem of bureaucracy—of power delegated by lawmakers to boards and commissions—of the trend inherent in bureaucracy toward seizure of more and more power—toward combining within the bureaucratic function the authority of prosecutor. jury and judge—and thereby toward breaking down the vital concept of checks and balances upon which our system was founded.

The measure would set up a method of review that would slow down the racing engine that is bureaucracy. It is the Logan-Walter bill.

The pressure for expansion of bureaucratic power is nothing new and nothing unnatural. It reflects a perfectly human impulse. The tendency will never restrain itself. It must be checked by that body in which the original responsibility for law-making is reposed. That body is Congress. And that is why the Logan-Walter bill, with an airing of the whole great subject, is so important.

The Great Poo Bah

The great men who sat down together and conceived the Constitution of the United States had a considerable distrust for foreign methods of doing things. They distrusted despotism, tyranny, and arbitrary authority. They showed their attitude again and again in the simple, forthright phrasing of the Constitution itself. There is no passage that shows their attitude better than the simple phrase which reads: "No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States."

Americans, as a result, are accustomed to living under a system of representative democracy, wherein individual rights are respected and freedoms are zealously guarded. Sometimes lately, however, there have been those in Washington who appeared contemptuous of these beliefs.

Take the National Labor Relations Board, for example. The evidence continues to pile up that this board considers itself an exception to most traditional American rules; that it fancies itself in the role usually assigned to foreign despots. Like the official in the well-known Gilbert and Sullivan musical comedy, "The Mikado," it plays many roles; Judge, Jury, Attorney, and even Executioner. That same official. Poo Bah by name. even came to invent one final eitle for himself—"Lord High Everything Else"—and the more one watches the actions of the board, the more it seems to be reaching out for that job, too.

Americans are not accustomed to an attitude like this on the part of government officials. And if the Wagner Board ever pauses to ask itself why public opinion is so strongly against its arbitrary actions, it is sure to find its answer in the fact that it has chosen to govern by caprice and with a sense of its own dictatorial power, rather than heeding the ideals formulated by a great French philosopher in the following stirring words:

"A free people obeys, but does not serve; it has leaders but not masters; it obeys the laws but only the laws. In brief. liberty always follows the fate of laws; she rules and perishes with them."

STUDENTS WHO ARE ABSENT ADD TO TAX BURDEN

Occasionally one hears the term "A. D. A." referred to in connection with the public schools, but few no doubt realize the meaning of the term in dollars and cents value to a school district. A. D. A. is an abbreviation of the term "average daily attendance," or average number of days a pupil has been in attendance at school for a current year. It is also the basis upon which school districts receive from the state money with which to aperate the school.

Last year, for instance, the Nevada City high school reported an average daily attendance of 236. The state found that the amount available in the state school fund, a fund supported by the state sales tax, would bring to each high school district the sum of $87.24 per A. D. A.; that is, on the basis of 236 pupils in average daily attendance at the Nevada City high school last year a sum of $20,588.64 was made available for use by the Nevada City high school district in operating its school. In addition to this amount, a sum of $3200 is received for maintaining four years of high school work. The balance of the amount needed to operate the school comes, of course, as a result of local taxation.

The facts here presented have many implications as far as parents and pupils are concerned. Reduced to a daily re-imbursement basis, they mean that for every day a pupil is absent, the school district loses 50 cents. That in itself does not seem to be so important until it is realized that some pupils are absent as many as 30 days or more in a school year. Last year pupil absences totaled 2285 days or a loss of $1142.77 to the district. For every dollar lost in this manner local property owners must be taxed in order to make up the difference.

The most important deduction to draw from these facts is that parents and pupis can cooperate with the schools by making every effort to have pupils present at school every day humanly possible and not absent for reasons other than sickness. The following are typical of excuses, other than for sickness, presented by pupils on the return to school after absence: at the hair-dressers; stayed out too late last night; went out of town; resting after a strenuous week end; had company at home.

BUT LOOK BEHIND YOU!

Just Wonderin'

I wonder at the lessons taught
By ocean tides that ebb and flow,
Like them the tides of joy and peace
Shall rise triumphantly, we know;
And so we keep our steadfast faith
And harbor no such word as, "fail,"
Against the ebbing waves of wrath,
The tides of justice shall prevail.

I wonder how much longer the devastating waves of human hate and wrath will continue to bring sorrow, pain and death to this tortured world; though lashed to fury by every evil wind that blows, they must at length subside, their forces spent, their powers no longer potent. Slowly, perhaps, the bitter waves will ebb away, but sometime the sunlit tide of good will and peace will come surging in—sometime humanity will rejoice in the dawning light of a new and far, far better day.

I wonder what will happen when those who have been hypnotized by the roaring bombast of mad leaders, wake up and begin asking questions. The expedient of waging wars of aggression, has always been and still is a favorite one with war lords. It serves their purpose for a time; keeps the home folk interested, even fascinated; but ultimately, some one or a group of some ones does a bit of personal thinking, becomes curious—and troublesome; then the purge is invoked, but the heresy usually spreads and no tyrant can purge the entire citizenry of any land or nation.

Were I a follower of certain totalitarian leaders—and beginning to use my mind, here are a few thoughts which might arise in me: "this regime isn't working out as I was led to believe it would; we have abolished capitalism, but militarism has taken its place and the burden upon the common people grows heavier day by day; we were promised peace, happiness and the fat of the land, but we are getting war, sorrow and deprivation; I'm tired of wearing black shirts and eating black bread, tired of goose-stepping—but right there, I'd stop thinking for the day and step into a cafe for a bite of coarse bread and a sip of weak, black coffee.

I wonder if the inspired wisdom of poets is always to be trusted; there is, for in instance, a poem written by Kipling in which he declares, "the female of the species is more deadly than the male; "now is that statement true or otherwise?

A quiet, orderly gentleman sallied forth one day to seek for concrete evidence among domestic fowls and beasts. He came home looking as though he had been mauled by a dinasauer. and told a story of having been chased by an infuriated bull. horrified by the conflict between two barnyard roosters, berated by a turkey gobbler, hissed by a gander. knocked down by a billy-goat, butted by a ram, bitten by a dog named Nero, scratched by a tom-cat and served a convincing uppercut by an irate farmer the sanctity of whose fences he had disregarded in his flight for safety. Now that quiet gentleman is convinced that no fatter what the breed, the he-male is more deadly than the she; Mr. Kipling to the contrary notwithstanding.

Uncle Silas says: "I hope we have no recall; it might not do any harm to change tweedle-dee for tweedle-dum, but in this case we might get tweedle-dum-dum and that would surely shatter the body politic." —A. MERRIAM CONNER.

ELLA M. AUSTIN EXHIBITS SERIES OF PAINTINGS

The beautiful collection of oil paintings by Mrs. Ella M. Austin, former county superintendent of schools, is on display in the drawing room of the National Hotel this week. They were first hung for the court house group on Tuesday when a luncheon was enjoyed by the party. Mrs. Austin was persuaded to leave the paintings on display that the Business and Professional Woman's Club might view them Wednesday evening. Yesterday the Rotary Club members viewed the paintings when they gathered for dinner.

The group comprises California scenes. "Forest Fire" seems to attract most attention, although every one is of interest. The pictures are: "Forest Fire," "Yosemite Valley," "Wild Grape Vines", this one being painted on her brother in law's farm, A. Anderson at Spenceville, west of Nevada City; two of "California Poppies," "Arm of Green Bay;" "Coast near Capistrano;" "On Merced River;" "Spring Time;" "Spring Time in the Coast Range;" and "Autumn Trees." "Spring Time in the Coast Range" was painted two months ago and is a little gem of beauty and color. "Autumn Trees" was painted in January and Mrs. Austin painted the view of Sugar Loaf mountain north of Nevada City catching the true color of red leaved maples and yellow Lombardy poplars. Both trees were brought to Nevada City by early day pioneers and are one of the delights about the city in autumn.

Mrs. Austin is a native of Nevada county and spent much of her life in the Spenceville district where she still owns a farm and home, although she has lived at the National Hotel twenty years. She held the office of county superintendent of schools in Nevada county many years. This highly esteemed pioneer who has a hobby of painting beautiful subjects of nature, finds much satisfaction in her art, both in doing it, and in the pleasure it gives those who view it.

Mrs. Ronald Barnes and son, Barry, of Berkeley are making a two week's visit with Mrs. Barnes' father, A. W. McGagin.

SHE DRIVES 25,000 MILES A YEAR

Operator of a delivery route for a San Jose newspaper, Mrs. Horrie Brooks, 65 years old, drives her car 88 miles every week-day of the year. Her choice of car always has been Buick and during her nine years in the newspaper delivery business has driven a total of more than 250,000 miles. She is shown above with her new Buick—a business coupe—which she recently drove from the Buick factory at Flint, Michigan, to her home in Los Gatos, California.

NEVADA COUNTY FARMERS STUDY EROSION CONTROL

Farmers need not suffer soil losses such as were caused by erosion during this spring's heavy rains, if they will use available measures under the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to William Jaeckle, chairman of the Nevada County agricultural conservation committee.

While cover crops have been used universally as a soil protective measure, there are other practices in the AAA conservation program especially designed to control erosion, he stated.

"For instance, grain farmers may carry out protective measures on summer fallow to reduce erosion. There is a three year rotation practice in this year's program which provides for the protection of grain lands by stubble and vegatative cover during 1940, when land was planted to small grains in 1939, and summer fallowed in 1938."

Other erosion control practices include: construction of check dams for gully control; water spreading to prevent soil washing, riprapping live streams; strip cropping, to slow up and stop erosion; terracing; contour listing; subsoiling; seeding the small grains on the contour.

Orchardists may be interested in trials of permanent cover crop in their orchards, trials of which are being made under the supervision of the Agricultural Extesion Service and which is a practice coming with in the agricultural conservation program.

FORMER NEVADA CITY RESIDENT BUILDS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Joe St. Hilaire purchased the old Cooksey property on West Broad street early this year and Wednesday contractors started construction of two, four-room cottages after tearing down the old house on the lot.

Mrs. Hilaire will be remembered as the former Mrs. Bowman who with her husband operated the Bowman Barber Shop and Beauty Parlor on Broad street.

Mr. Hilaire is top sergeant in the quartermasters corps now stationed at Camp Ord near Monterey where war maneuvers are going on. Mrs. Hilaire has been residing in Nevada City two months and they plan to make this city their home.

About the only exercise some people get is jumpin' at conclusions.

EAR INFECTED

Everett Hiscox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hiscox who reside on the Tahoe Ukiah highway east of Nevada City, is confined to his home with a serious ear infection. He is under the care of Dr. B. W. Hummelt.

Mrs. Botting Here—

Mrs. Gertrude Botting, who resides in the bay district spent Saturday in Nevada City visiting several friends. Her late husband, Thomas Botting, operated the Quaker Hill gravel mine several years before his death and and the family resided in Nevada City until he passed away.

OPERATED ON

Reports reaching Nevada City are that Mrs. John Becker was operated upon at University Hospital in San Francisco Monday by Dr. Henry Searls. Mr. and Mrs. Becker who reside at Town Talk motored to the bay district ten days ago. Mr. Becker is owner and operator of the Boundary mine in Grass Valley.

You'll be No. 1 in the Hit Parade!

Look at Buick First...you can afford it and you can't know what your 1940 money ought to buy until you've seen this really modern automobile.

YES sir, something pretty special happens when you turn the ignition switch, and drive away for the first time in your very own 1940 Buick.

In that little act, you get a years-long jump on the other fellow. You step out in a car that is not only 1940's biggest news but the pattern for many a season to come.

Style? Just look the others over and see how they mirror the trend Buick began a good twelve months ago!

Size? Just try to find a car as long as Buick, bumper to bumper, for the same money—or one with a frame as husky and rigid.

Comfort? Performance? Appointments?

No one else on the highway has soft, gentle coil springs all around that never need lubrication, with the steady rolling firmness of torque-tube drive.

No one else gives you a gas-thrifty Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight engine, much less a power plant electro-balanced after assembly.

No one else has a Two-Way Direction Signal with automatic cut-off—or standard equipment so complete that even a lock for the gas tank is included in the price.

The Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan $996★

And with the whole range of Buick's six dozen 1940 features you'll be No. 1 in the automotive hit parade, leading the way in a car that will still be full of big news many a season hence.

You'll be driving a Buick, staunch and solid in its tested metal, fashioned with Buick craftsmen's skill, a car you can count on to keep its value, lose mighty little through either use or depreciation.

And the price? Unbelievable as it sounds, the Buick SPECIAL carries a price lower than some sixes—which spells "buy" in any man's language. Why not learn more from the nearest Buick dealer?

Prices begin at $895 for Business Coupe—Sedan prices start at $955—

★delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

LOCAL BASEBALL TEAM WINS GAME BY LARGE SCORE

The Nevada City baseball team played the Grass Valley Colts Sunday and won the game by a 13 to 5 score. The Grass Valley Colts are going into the Foothill League since San Juan is not entering one in the league this year.

Sunday's game was a practice one and the following players were in the lively test: Melvin Stintson, Don Peck, Syd Penny, and Whit Payne, pitchers; George Sullivan and Jack Engle, catchers. The Nevada City pitchers struck out twelve men and Grass Valley pitchers struck out ten men.

At a meeting of the Foothill League directors in Auburn early his week the following list of names were submitted to the league secretary. Homer Biggs, Melvin Stintson, Whit Payne, Herb Costa, Herb Gibson, Jim Youngman, Don Peck, Darrell Brown, Syd Penny, Jack Bloomquist, "Male" White, Arnold Sullivan, George Sullivan, Geo. Smith, Cliff Robbins, Ralph Miller, John Kovhever, William Livesay, Hobart Childers, Bob Tamblyn and Ed. Frantz.

MISSES SAND PILE

Bill Buffington, Jr., aged twelve years, suffered rather severe shock and bruises Saturday when he slid down a slide in Memorial Park in Grass Valley and landed on hard earth, instead of a sand pile. He was taken to a doctor and treated for the bruises and went to school Monday but was a stiff, sore youngster.

INSECTS DISPLAYED FOR SCHOOLS WEEK

Henry Hobbie, Nevada City high school instructor, has an outstanding collection of California insects in fourteen cases in the Dickerman Drug Store window for the Public School Week. In the neatly arranged cases are beautiful butterflies, grass hoppers, beetles of many shapes and sizes, mosquito catchers and ants of all sizes, besides many other odd bugs that few people realize come from this district.

B. P. W. C. HOLDS INSTALLATION IN NATIONAL HOTEL

The Nevada City and Grass Valley Business and Professional Woman's Clubs held a joint installation at the National Hotel Wednesday evening with Miss Dorothy Brown, past president of the Northern District, acting as installing oficer, at a beautiful candle light ceremony.

New Officers

The newly installed officers for Nevada City are, Miss Phyllis Horn, president; Mrs. Opal Bernard, vice president; Mrs. Ethel White, recording secretary; Mrs. Dixie Rose, treasurer; Miss Ruth Hutchinson, corresponding secretary.

Grass Valley officers installed Wednesday evening were Mrs. Arletta Douglas, president; Mrs. Thelma Sahl, vice president; Elizabeth Johnson, second vice president; Myrtle Lindvall, recording secretary; Eva Boreham, treasurer; Alice deBerry, auditor.

Retiring presidents, Mrs. Earl Jones for Nevada City and Mrs. Leah Pengelly, Grass Valley were each presented with old fashioned bouquets on which lay their past president's pins. Approximately one hundred members and guests were seated for the dinner with guests present from Sacramento and Auburn.

Featured Speaker

Speaker of the evening was Miss Louise Slaa, counselor of the Sacramento schools. She spoke on her European trip of two years ago particularly stressing Norway, her home land. Little cities in present line of bombardment were described and one which was owned originally by her forefathers in 1610 and where they have resided ever since. in fact all her ancestors are in that little city. On this trip home she was presented with a tiny hand made bucket her father made in 1869 and she brought it home as a memento. The people in that country were cleanly in their surroundings and the quite peaceful unhurried lives impressed her as she was in the United States where all is hurry, hustle and stirring about.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

C. S. F. CONFERENCE

Saturday, April 27, the regional conference of the California Scholorship Federation will be held at the Marysville Union high school.

The Nevada City chapter is planning to send a large delegation.

The registration will be from 9 a. m. to 9:45 a. m. when the morning session will begin. First the roll will be called, then the regular business meeting, in which Dr. Ruth S. Thomas of Chico high school will speak about her recent experiences in South America. Following luncheon the delegates will be conducted about the campus.

The afternoon session will include a program and an illustrated talk on gold dredging. These will be followed by an excursion to Hammonton, twelve miles east of Marysville, to see the world's largest dredger in operation.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics club will present a fashion show on the stage, Friday, May 3. Afterwards a tea is to be served by members of the club. All parents are invited to attend. The clothes that are to be modeled have been made by the sewing classes.

CHILDREN'S CRUSADE

The Children's Crusade will continue throughout this week. Attractive cans, with a picture of a boy and a girl, were put in every classroom. Although it is not compulsory to donate anything, authorities suggest that each student donate one penny for every year of his age. The money will be used to help the needy children in Europe.

TENNIS TOURNEY

Coach Frantz has arranged a ladder tennis tournament for the boys. The names are placed in the effect of a ladder and any boy may challenge one above him. The games must then be played off within twenty four hours. This is a new type of tournament and is proving very successful.

JR. CLASS MEETS

A junior class meeting was held yesterday for the purpose of turning in tickets and money relative to the junior prom. After all bills were paid $10 was the profit.

Social Events

Mrs. Ella M. Austin Gives Noon Luncheon Party

Mrs. Ella M. Austin, former county superintendent of schools, gave a dainty noon luncheon at the National Hotel Tuesday for the group of women employees at the court house, all close friends while she was in office. Mrs. Austin, noted for her beautiful paintings, painted poppies on tiny place cards for her guests.

Present for the delightful get together were, Mrs. Anna C. Tucker, Mrs. Ida Guenther, Mrs. Isobel Heffelfinger, Mrs. C. Heath, Misses Lois Ennor, Madeline Himes, Gertrude Jones, Elma Hecker, Bernice Clemo, Josephine Genasci, Florence Tischer, Gertrude Wilde.

Highway Officers Here—

Muller Chapman, with the state division of highways at San Luis Obispo, arrived Tuesday to remain until Sunday visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Chapman.

ANGLER CLAN READY TO STALK WILY TROUT

The Larsen Clan plans to get out on the trout fishing streams bright and early May first and woe to the wily trout that loiters in open water when they are around.

From the Larsen barber shop come astounding fish stories and yet more fish stories. The tackle is out and all polished ready for instant action and Andrew Larsen has a fancy cast all his own that brings in a fish every time! Son, Cameron, casts a hook that few luckless trout con escape; brother, Carl, has his "tin Lizzie" all shined up and how it can climb into almost inaccessible secret spots where limits are always caught. But it's too early to predict what brother Theodore has in mind!

LOCAL STUDENTS DISPLAY CRAFTS, ARTS IN STORES

In commemoration of Public Schools Week Nevada City high school students have some excellent displays of their arts and crafts in the Colley's Confectionery, Harris and Dickerman's Drug Stores. The home made dresses are well done with good taste. The pottery, leather goods and stenciling in Dickerman's is creating much attention and artistic work in wood work, sheet metal and art and bench metals in Harris' is outstanding for excellent work.

Display Roses—

Fred E. Conner who was in Nevada City early this week, has on display four varieties of beautiful pink, red and coppery red roses in the Dickerman Drug Store windows and on display cases inside the store.

Health Improved—

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilhoite and child returned Sunday from a several months stay in Arizona. Wilhoit was manager of the local Safeway stores. He is very much improved in health.
